

RV3 is Alive

Written by slinky

Tuesday, 24 May 2011 21:38 - Last Updated Tuesday, 24 May 2011 22:20

Firstly, apologies for not updating the site sooner, as I'm sure you can imagine, the team has been working hard to deliver on this almighty project.

Thanks to massive efforts from all involved, and everyone listed in the sponsors rosta to the left of this article, the car was rolled out at Santa Pod on Friday night to meet its first engagement at a VXR Sprint Night.

Fired on Saturday, and onto the track on Sunday for shakedown/licensing passes, the team are massively pleased with how things are going so far.. Of course there are the normal new car teething troubles, but none are insurmountable.

We'll be testing on Thursday and then, all being well, racing at The Main Event this weekend. In the meantime, here's a video of one of our shakedown passes, 700 feet of throttle...

{youtube}tf34msdDmWs{/youtube}

Also, thanks to the very kind Tog, of Eurodragster fame, here are a couple of photos of the car.. Copyright remains with Tog/
Eurodrags
ter of course..

{gallery}RV3/METT11:200:200:0:0{/gallery}

RV3 is Alive

Written by slinky

Tuesday, 24 May 2011 21:38 - Last Updated Tuesday, 24 May 2011 22:20

More videos and updates will follow once we return from Santa Pod.. If you're at the track, please feel free to come and say hello, it's likely that we'll be busy, but don't be afraid to say Hi, Slinky will be somewhere near to have a chat if the team are busy working on the car.