

Well the 0-60 challenge has come and gone. What an absolute waste of time turning up. As most people will have read on other sites the people who were running the show obviously didn't want us to win (after inviting us there). We smelt a rat as soon as we had the e-mail telling us about the venue change, if we hadn't been committed to the TV show none of us would have bothered to turn up. For a look at a spoof e-mail that could have been pop to www.silverfoxracing.org.uk and click on the latest news button. Choose from the drop down menu and your in. Better news for us is that testing at Santa Pod in the week was quite useful. Apart from some gremlins with the nitrous we got the car launching much better on a very marginal track. Even had the front wheel carrying for 10 to 15 ft. Thanx to Jon Webster for giving me some great advice at the track. As you can see in the pictures below the new t-shirt design is done. Another amazing piece of artwork by Mark Gredzinski Design (01922 720377). If you want one place your order now, quote the size and quantity you need. There will be a limited amount available so order soon to avoid disappointment.
