

24/12/03 - Have a Frosty Christmas

Written by slinky
Friday, 22 June 2007 23:19 -

That's it then,2003 is nearly over and what a good year it was.I am now in possession of a new block,crank,rods,rings,cam etc and I will be getting on with the build over the xmas and new year holiday.The car is at JWRE now and will be back after the new year.One thing that hasn't been touched since the car debuted is the paint.Martin Curbishley will be giving it a tidy up before it gets back in the garage(so I can scratch it again no doubt..)

As you will have probably seen on various websites there is a 0-60mph challenge at York in 2004.Get your entries in if your interested.Just mail Howard Holmes on howardholmes@btinternet.com We have a score to settle from the beginning of the year with a certain Audi and his miserable crew chief.I've tried to contact them but I haven't had a reply yet.Maybe in the new year.....

All that's left is to wish everybody connected with the RedVictor1 racing team,all the CCSE personnel and the street legal drag race people from all over the world that make our sport what it is a great xmas and the best year they've ever had in 2004.

See ya next year.....who knows what might happen!